MAKE YOUR OWN PATTERN

You can go at this project on your own by measuring around the royal head, adding a few inches around to overlap for the closure.

Draw the shape onto a heavy paper (or cloth if you are stitchy) and cut it out. The shape of the top can be anything you want: round, pointy, wonky....

fold line

- Create a pocket by folding the paper up at the bottom of the crown. To make it easier to work with the curve, hold the crown at both ends and run it up and down along the edge of a table. This will give a bit of a curve to the crown. Keep checking the curve factor as you add things to the body of the piece.

- Make words, pictures, little collaged pieces to slip into the pocket.
- Use glue or stitching to add elements to the face of your crown.
- Hang felt beads and charms from the edge with decorative yarns, paper clips, colored wire.
- Wrap the crown around the royal head to figure out closure spacing. A stapler makes quick work of holding the ends together. Velcro is another option, offering the option of decorating and wearing on both sides!
